

SAVE International 2008 Awards Program

Each year SAVE International recognizes individuals and organizations for their superb contributions to the promotion and advancement of the value methodology and the society through membership recruitment, outreach, program implementation, and other efforts. SAVE International is proud to present this year's honors and awards as follows.

Keynote Speakers

Terry Copeland, Ph.D., Interim President, Altainano, Reno, NV

Fellow Awards

Scot McClintock, PE, CVS-Life

Chapter Effectiveness Award

First Place Organization Award for Chapter Effectiveness for a chapter with more than 25 members

Greater Michigan Chapter

Paper of the Year Award

Marc Logman, Ph.D., for his paper "Customer Value as an Ideation Tool"

This paper stretches us beyond our comfort by connecting theories of value from marketing to our conversations and, in so doing, widening the scope as to what VE practice can cover, a span now much wider than any individual can cover.

Government Award

Gordon Frank Outstanding Accomplishment in Government Award

ECC for a VM implementation success rate of 35% in improving company proposals, designs, project schedules, and processes for U.S. government clients.

Achievement Award

Rising Star Award

Kyle J. Schafersman, CVS, for enthusiasm and embracing of the value methodology and demonstration of VM accomplishments within the past five years.

Outreach & Presidential Awards

Hal Tufty Award for Value Methodology Outreach

J. Jerry Kaufman, CVS-Life, FSAVE, in recognition of contributions toward the growth and advancement of the value methodology.

Presidential Citations

McGill University, Mechanical Engineering, for partnering industry needs with value education through practice.

Mary Ann W. Lewis, FSAVE, president of Lewis & Zimmerman Associates, Inc., for her dedicated advocacy of SAVE International and the value methodology.

Outgoing Board Members

Bijay K. Nayak, Ph.D., PE, P.Eng., CPEng., CEm, CMfgE, VMP, FIEAust., for service as Vice President - Manufacturing of SAVE International from 2004 to 2008.

Roy M. Woodhead, BSc., HONS, Ph.D., CVS, PVM, TVM, for service as the Vice President - Education from 2004 to 2008.